Pak-Air

Save money and simplify operations

Stretch wrap ventilation system

The Pak-Air carriage cuts standard machine grade stretch film into bands. This allows the load to breathe while still providing excellent strength to properly secure the load.

- Ideal for produce, frozen goods, and hot fill products.
- Eliminates the need for expensive specialty films.
- Much simpler and more reliable than netting or other ventilated alternatives.
- Rolled edge of each band creates a “hem” for superior strength.
- Retractable blades allow flexibility to easily switch from banding to wrapping.

Signode combines innovative equipment and high quality stretch film with superior service to provide you with a single source solution for all of your stretch packaging needs.
